ResearchApp

ResearchApp is a registered online magazine in partnership with MicroBiotics, with International Standard Serial Number (ISSN) 2488-9245. It provides important, regular and free articles needed to provide educative content for readers and also publishes highly applied articles about techniques and methodologies, service and product creations, bioscientific and biomedical processes and procedures, and other specialised information, in simple terms to the readers under its applied trade journal.

The most articles from ResearchApp are provided monthly by experts with experiences in academic, vocational, industrial and/or technological fields as narrative overviews, (also known as an unsystematic narrative reviews) which are comprehensive narrative syntheses of previously published academic/scholarly journal articles

Mostly articles are written in plain and easily understandable style and instructional formats. Information provided are both free and also for subscribers only. The researched and quality articles provided are still subjected to our disclaimer notice, and the organisation reserves the right to refuse or accept submitted articles for any reason.

To be an expert contributor in this trade journal, and/or participate in any of other Sci-Comm programmes, kindly fill this form.
